FARMERS ADVISED NOT TO SELL EGGS FROM INCUBATORS.

A number of poultry raisers, it seems, are putting on the market infertile eggs that have been tested in incubators from three days to a week. As soon as the breeder finds that the eggs will not hatch he takes them out and sends them to the market along with his fresh eggs. After the eggs have been in the incubator for this period they are distinctly stale and rot very quickly if kept any length of time. Even when just taken from the incubator these infertile eggs are not fit for boiling or poaching, although they may be used for frying, and are good for cake or certain other baked foods. These eggs when they reach the market, however, are classified as low grade, No. 2.

The mixing of incubator eggs with fresh spring eggs leads the egg packers, who get their principal cold-storage supply in the spring, to cut the price they pay the farmer, department investigators find. The spring eggs designed for keeping for winter consumption must be absolutely good. Moreover, the egg packers in the spring do not candle eggs, but hold them three at a time in the hand and click them to discover any crack; and then judge their freshness by their fresh, powdery look on the shell. The mixture of infertile incubator eggs with fresh eggs interferes seriously with the clicking and forces the packer to candle the eggs. He then deducts this added expense from the price he offers to the producer. Eggs which have once been subjected to the heat of the incubator can not be stored, even though frozen.

The farmer who sells incubator eggs to the dealer, therefore, is very liable to injure his own market for fresh eggs. When the dealer finds a percentage of low-grade incubator of other fresh eggs in their fresh spring egg supply, they lower the price for all eggs, so that they will be certain that they have covered themselves against losses from this cause. The department's specialists advise the farmers to use any infertile eggs they may take from their incubators for home consumption and send only fresh eggs to market.

FOUND CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, the hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

RESULTS OF IMPROVED METHODS OF DAIRYING.

The owners of a farm in Virginia which was managed in the old-fashioned way kept 16 cows and sold their butter in the local markets for 27 to 30 cents a pound. The herd consisted of ordinary cows of mixed breeding, which were allowed to run most of the year, but were tied up in the "overshoot" at milking time. In 1911, becoming dissatisfied with results, the owners decided to ship cream to Washington, D. C. This was found to be more profitable, as they received 45 to 50 cents a pound for butterfat; but on the first visit of the district inspector the building was pronounced insanitary. The cellar of the dwelling house was used as a dairy house; the barn was an old-time general-purpose barn; there was no silo on the place. The water supply, which was pumped by a windmill from the neighboring creek, was considered unfit for washing dirty utensils.

The owner built a new barn, a dairy house, and a silo at a cost of $1,789, according to plans furnished by the department. The department furnishes such plans to persons contemplating the erection of a new dairy barn, milk house or silo, or for the remodeling of an old building, if requests are accompanied by statements of character and size of building desired. The new barn is a one-story building large enough for 30 cows, but so constructed that the cows can be kept clean with the least amount of labor. The old barn remained for storage purposes.

Record sheets and scales for weighing milk were obtained and daily weighings of milk were made. A representative for the department assisted in making tests of the milk with the Babcock tester, and gave advice about feeding and general management. At the present time the herd has been increased to 30 head of as good cows of mixed breeds as could be purchased, but it is doubtful if they are as good as those in the original herd. A pure-bred Holstein bull has been placed at the head of the herd. Four pure-bred animals of the same breed have recently been added. Following the advice of the dairy expert, better methods of feeding increased the yield of milk. The herd records show that during the year ending September 30, 1913, the average yield of milk per cow was 502 pounds more than during the previous year. Because of the improved condition of the buildings a better price is received for the milk, so with the increased yield, combined with the higher value of the product, the average profit each cow was increased to the extent of $24.79 per annum.

LOOK TO YOUR PLUMBING.

You know what happens in a house in which the plumbing is in bad condition—everybody in the house is liable to contract typhoid or some other fever. The digestive organs perform the same functions in the human body as the plumbing does for the house, and they should be kept in first-class condition all the time. If you have any trouble with your digestion take Chamberlain's Tablets and you are certain to get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.

FOREST NOTES.

The tenth successive year without a forest fire has just been passed by the Powell National Forest in South Central Utah.

Forest officers in Washington and Oregon plan to discontinue the use of barbed wire on their forests. This will affect their own pastures and public drift fences. They say barbed wire has no advantage over smooth wire, that it injures stock, and that it is more likely to be borne down by soft snow. Stockmen on the Ochoco forests in Oregon, recently constructed drift fences of smooth wire, though with some misgivings; they say they will never use barbed wire again.

A Pennsylvania gun company is using waste pieces of black and Circassian walnut, left after veneer cutting, for gun stocks.

Ghent, Belgium, furnishes practically all of the potted specimens of the symmetrical Araucaria, or Norfolk Island pine, used as an ornamental foliage house plant, in Europe and America. The United States imports at least 250,000 of these plants in 5 or 6 inch pots each year.

Do you really want to heal it? And enough to send 25c. Then go to the store and buy a box of DR. BELL'S.

Restful Support and Great Satisfaction will be found in

Rengo Belt

Reducing Corsets

You can wear these corsets throughout the day without a distressed and thoroughly tired out feeling.

THE extra strength of materials used in Rengo Belt corsets gives support that is particularly restful when the garments are adjusted to reduce the excess flesh at the back, hips and abdomen. No other corsets have the strength to hold their shape so long under these trying conditions. With the elastic webbing inserts over the thighs and at back, freedom is allowed exactly where needed—stout women are dancing, and bending in these corsets with perfect grace and wonderful comfort.

The boning is of double watch spring steels—very pliable but extra strong—and is guaranteed not to rust. The crowning feature of Rengo Belt corsets is their thoroughly strong materials and tailoring—without which all other reducing corsets fail.
